Romance

THE diamond to-day is the outward and visible symbol of romance. Behind almost every stone there is some story concerning the lives of two people.

Because of what it symbolizes it is of prime importance that the diamond be perfect. Birks diamonds are of the finest quality and the size of the stone is the only factor in the price.

RETURNED MEN TO BE GIVEN ASSISTANCE

Fund For This Purpose Has Been Created.

NO REFUND.

Amount Available May Be Increased Shortly.

A number of contradictory rumors have obtained circulation lately concerning the nature of the assistance to be rendered to returned soldier-students who require financial aid to enable them to pursue their interrupted studies. According to some, the University authorities intended to make a refund of the excess of the present fees over those of the past year, but this has no foundation in fact.

Yesterday afternoon a representative of the "Daily" interviewed Principal Sir Arthur Currie on the subject, and the latter stated that no such action was contemplated. Sir Arthur, however, expressed the greatest sympathy with the claims of the returned men for financial assistance, and wished it to be known that a certain amount of money had been set aside by the University for this purpose. Any returned student who finds himself financially embarrassed may consider himself at full liberty to apply to the Principal personally, when his claims will be considered, and, in cases of obvious necessity, arrangements will be made which will enable the student to carry on with his course.

It is realized that there are many returned men at college who, while perhaps able to continue their courses unaided, can do so only at the loss of valuable time or by dint of harmful and over-stringent economy. It is for such men that the fund provided by the University has been created, and Principal Currie stated that no returned man really in need of financial assistance need be diffident about making his circumstances known. The Principal himself administers the fund, and all applications are treated personally and confidentially by him.

Besides the amount provided by the University, there is also a strong probability that the money available for distribution in this manner will be considerably augmented in the near future. The Canadian Y.M.C.A., after its financial campaign of 1917-18 voted a considerable sum towards the establishment and maintenance of the Khaki University in England and France. The whole of the money so set aside has not been entirely ex-

CO-EDS. HOCKEY GAME POSTPONED

No Ice At Ste. Annes—Team Explore Town Instead.

Yesterday afternoon, at 3.25 and later, a large crowd consisting of the R. V. C. hockey team, the referee, and the "Thundering Thousand," represented by two stentorian voices, came flying in from all directions to catch the 3.30 train to Macdonald.

Excitement waxed high on the outward trip, and the train emptied quickly at Ste. Annes. A delegation met the crowd at the station, and caused their chins to drop in dismay, with reports of a second Great Flood, which had entirely submerged the rink. The only thing that was lacking was the Ark. It would appear that the Glacial Period had not yet arrived.

Business of discussion—Part of the team returned to town; the rest clambered over railway tracks and barbed wire fences, and arrived at the other swimming pool, rooting for the Presbyterian College.

When this game had been won, due without doubt, to the vociferous rooting of the remainder of the "Thundering Thousand," they repaired with great gusto to partake of "tea" which was coffee, at the Hudson Bay House.

Having run for the train, and attempted to deposit ourselves in the parlor-car, the conductor was careless enough to ask the usual fare, thereby ignoring custom. We retreated disdainfully to the day-coach and there were amused by Scotch jokes told by one of the "Thundering Thousand." We have arrived at the Grand Trunk Station much the better for wear. The conductor now requests us to get off.

MEDS. DINNER TO BE HELD FEBRUARY 19

Annual Banquet To Be Held at Place Viger.

NOTABLE FUNCTION.

Representatives From Other 'Varsities Are to Attend.

The thirty-ninth annual dinner of the McGill Medical Undergraduate Society will be held at the Place Viger Hotel, next Saturday evening, February 19th, at 7.30 p.m.

This yearly function is one of the leading events of the University session and serves largely as a preliminary farewell to the Graduating Class, which turns out in its entirety to have one final jollification before settling down to the grad drive on the examinations. Many members of the junior years attend as well. The Faculty Teaching Staff is always well represented by from twenty-five to fifty doctors and professors, who are enthusiastic supporters, besides housemen from the hospitals, who come to hark back to their "student" days for an evening.

Principal Sir Arthur Currie has promised to attend, and there will be representatives from Toronto, Queen's and University of Montreal.

It has been the custom for many years to invite as guest of honor one of the leading medical men of this continent, and a great deal of interest centres in the visitor and his address to the gathering. Some notable members of the profession have attended former dinners, including Dr. Harvey Cushing, Prof. William T. Porter of Harvard, Dr. Thomas McRae of the University of Pennsylvania. This year, the guest of honor is Dr. Charles H. Peck, Professor of Surgery in the College of Physicians and Surgeons (Columbia University), New York. Dr. Peck is well known in Montreal, having married a Montreal girl, and he always made it a point to welcome Canadians to New York, especially Canadian officers who arrived and departed via that city during the war.

The gathering of two hundred or more at this great event of the year provides a cheerful and interesting spectacle. No pains are spared to prepare an excellent and bountiful menu, but the most interest is shown in the social side of the evening. The programme usually contains a number of speeches, toasts, addresses, in which the speakers, first student and then professor, proceed to say complimentary things, alternating with sharp things, about each other, the net result being a thoroughly good understanding and appreciation and good fellowship for the ensuing year with its come-what-may.

The toasts that will be proposed next Saturday evening are as follows:

The King—The Chairman.

The Faculty—Mr. E. B. Chandler, Dr. A. D. Blackader.

The Guest of Honor—The Chairman, Dr. Charles H. Peck.

The Alma Mater—Mr. D. R. Learoyd, Sir Arthur Currie.

The Graduating Class—Dr. J. A. Hutchison, Mr. A. L. Caldwell.

All medical students are not only invited, but should consider it their duty to come to this most representative and time-honored celebration of the session. Tickets are $3.50, and may be secured from the class representatives, and those who intend to

CHESTERTON THE PARADOX IN MONTREAL

Treated "The Ignorance of the Educated."

DR. LEACOCK PRESENT.

G. K. C. Left As Many Opinions of Himself as Hearers in Montreal.

After hearing G. K. Chesterton deliver his lecture on "The Ignorance of the Educated," one is moved to ask whether the term "paradox" applied to him is inspired by anything but extreme difficulty in reporting him for publication. G. K. C. leaves his hearers wondering whether he means what he says, or whether he is laughing up his sleeve at himself and at the rest of us. By saying "the rest of us," I do not mean that he of necessity impresses one as being a superman. Nothing of the sort. Chesterton, viewed through the press and across the Atlantic, assumes the proportion of Carlyle's Heroes, seen through the dim veil of ages; men with a message, assuredly, but great, human men, "real folks," and not at all terrifying. G. K. C. is a man who, like all other men, loves and is loved. Even those whom he attacks surely cannot take his stings otherwise than good naturedly. When we get him in our own country, in our own city, talking to us in one of our familiar halls, the great, distant, somewhat mystically distorted figure of England's great man of letters turns out to be a well-educated, finely clever, admirable specimen of "genus homo." The English press has claimed that Chesterton would disappoint America. He may have disappointed those who were looking for a burly, fiercely militant cynic; to those who expected an educated gentleman, refined, not a little elegant, G. K. C. is the fulfilment of dreams. Even when he talks about the educated, chiding them for their ignorance, one cannot help knowing and remembering that he himself is one of the educated, and that his ignorance differs from theirs only in degree.

The subject-matter of "The Ignorance of the Educated" was so brilliantly presented, so exquisitely dovetailed into a whole, that it is impossible to do it justice in a hurried report of this nature. Roughly it is this:

There is a great stabilizing influence at work in society. This influence is the instinct of the people. It

R.V.C. GIRLS WIN GAME FROM P. ED.

Defeat Physical Education Dept. Girls at Basketball —Score: 40—18.

At a game yesterday afternoon at Molson Hall, the R. V. C. girls defeated the Physical Eds by a score of 40 to 18. The victorious team had a great advantage in height and weight, but their opponents put up a game fight.

The first period opened with a goal for the Physical Eds following some swift passes. The next four goals were scored by Miss Leggatt for R. V. C. The R. V. C. team kept well in the lead for the rest of the game and the score at the end of the first half was 22—12.

In the second half the play was very strenuous and there was more fouling on both sides than in the previous period. The Physical Eds again obtained the first goal but the next two went to R. V. C. The very swift low passes of the Physical Eds stood them in good stead and the efficiency of their guards, Miss Savage and Miss Gallery, prevented the difference in the score from being greater. On the R. V. C. team Miss Leggatt was in splendid form and scored many spectacular field shots. The whole team played a swift game, with excellent combination.

The line-up was as follows:

Physical Eds.		McGill.
Munro	Forward	Leggatt
Horobin	"	Slack
Reynolds	Centre	Spier
Porrett	"	Russel
Savage	Guard	Shlakman
Gallery	"	Gillespie

BOOST!

The next few weeks are weeks in which proof will be forthcoming as to whether or not there is any of that indefinable something commonly called "college spirit," prevalent at McGill. If there is we shall see crowds of rooters out at the coming Intercollegiate and City League hockey fixtures; we shall see the Union filled to overflowing when our B., W. & F. champions contend with those of Queens and 'Varsity; and lastly we shall see, instead of one lone nomination for such positions as President of the Students' Society, President of the Union, President of the A.A., etc., each candidature hotly contested, and replacing the usual languid indifference associated with elections, the polling booths working at top-notch throughout election day.

This is the time for every true student of McGill to come to the aid of his college—to help our representative teams on to victory, to assist in the choice of competent leaders who are to shape the future destinies of Old McGill. Now is the time to be an active booster.

must not be perverted by people not uneducated enough.

Too many educated and partly educated people have a wonderful power of seeing theories, but very little perception of actual fact. Now, theories may or may not be true. Abolish them all, and facts still remain. But we all have theories, and, in fact, the more a man holds to his ideas, the more worth-while he is. Yet we must guard against seeing theories and not seeing fact.

The war and our present industrial difficulties are due primarily to educated fashions of thinking. The educated English believed in the "Teutonic" theory, the theory that at some far-past time they and the Germans were one people, and that we loved freedom because we were Teutons. The uneducated believed that we are English because we are English, and because others "jabber" while we talk English. The uneducated had the facts. During the war, the educated English defended Prussia because of the same "Teutonic" theory, of the belief that they were defending themselves. As a matter of actual knowledge, the English and the Germans are as different as any two races on earth.

The educated view of the Kaiser before the war was that he was the "Lord Chief Justice of Europe." The vulgar people thought him a rather silly puppy with a mustache that stuck up into the air. They had the facts.

Take the example of educated people calling Bohemia Czecho-Slovakia. More ethnological superfluity imposed by the educated upon the uneducated; upon journalists and other simple and guileless people, to impress these latter with the deep knowledge of Czecho Slavs which is the property of the educated. It is mere pedantry to call Southern Slavs Jugo-Slavs because the two terms happen to be synonymous, as though there were such a race as the "Jugs" mixed up in historical times with the Slavs.

In the old days of the guilds we had no social troubles such as Communism, Bolshevism and Millionaires.

Since these happy days, the educated have imposed upon the uneducated three theories that have led to untold ill.

Calvinism was an imposition upon the uneducated by the not uneducated enough. Its arguments were irrefutable, and yet they have been destroyed.

Utilitarianism was also brought forth with unanswerable support; yet utilitarianism produced slums, and it is now conceded to be a fallacy.

Socialism exalted the state. Then we saw Prussia, the exalted state. These are the theories of the educated. Fads.

Mr. Chesterton prefaced his remarks by claiming, in spite of the American press, that his matter was all true and, alas, obvious; that he thinks a review of his works would lead one to say "Paradox Lost" rather than to call them paradoxical. He further claimed that he is a democrat, one of the few real democrats in the world. Our country is the least democratic on earth.

Following the lecture, G. K. C. was asked numerous questions, and it was in answering these that he showed especially well his keen wit, ready command of subjects of general interest, and tact. Tact is a remarkable word when applied to a man who has been represented to us as a tactless attacker of existing institutions, and yet tact is certainly what was displayed in the careful answers he gave to those who asked for them.

Among those present were a number of McGill men, prominent among them being Dr. Leacock, who asked the first question of Mr. Chesterton, and prefaced his question with a few humorous remarks in his usual manner. Both Dr. Leacock and the lecturer were greeted with hearty applause. England's greatest living man of letters, and America's greatest living humorist, were a combination the audience could not resist.

Warning.

Referees must be cautioned when warned for duty that it is part of their duty to appoint a time-keeper, who shall record all the goals scored and the names of scorers on the cards bearing lists of players and leave same with the Caretaker. Both referees must sign the cards.

Eligibility.

The following man having been suspended by the Athletic Association is not eligible for Class Hockey and is debarred from the use of the rink:

Desalaberry, Science '23.

Referees.

The Faculty Manager of Applied Science will supply—

Two referees for 5.15 to 6.15 p.m. Friday 18th.

Two referees for 2 to 3 p.m. Saturday 19th.

The Faculty Manager of Arts will supply—

Two referees for 6.15 to 7.15 p.m. Thursday 17th.

Two referees for 6.15 to 7.15 p.m. Tuesday 22nd.

The Faculty Manager of Commerce will supply—

Two referees for 5.15 to 6.15 p.m. Thursday 17th.

Two referees for 12 to 1 p.m. Saturday 19th.

The Faculty Manager of Dentistry will supply—

Two referees for 6.15 to 7.15 p.m. Friday 18th.

The Faculty Manager of Law will supply—

Two referees for 6.15 to 7.15 p.m. Wednesday 23rd.

The Faculty Manager of Medicine will supply—

Two referees for 5.15 to 6.15 p.m. Monday 21st.

Two referees for 5.15 to 6.15 p.m. Tuesday 22nd.

It is important to secure two officials, because it is difficult for one man to watch everything. Referees should be asked to be early (about ten minutes) and to read regulations posted at the rink. The most important part of their duties is to secure the official lists before the game and to see that the time-keeper is duly appointed, and that he keeps a record of the goals scored with the times on the cards.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily."

Dear Sir,—

The delicate bud has been known to belie its promise. The roseate future pictured in the prospectus has proved a daub. Many things begin: few continue. And such is the fate with many clubs, societies and kindred organizations at Old McGill. be in trim to make this meeting a and then are gone.

In writing this I have in mind the "Silas Whiffletree" stunt—I know of no more suitable word—produced by the Law Faculty last year. It was the outstanding event of the year, and was just what was wanted. It gave the whole student-body the chance to see itself. In doing so it demonstrated that college spirit was not dead only hidden, lying dormant but none the less strong.

We were told by the "book worms" on the days following the "parade and reception" of the delegation from "Sims Corner"—we were told confidently, even boastfully that such an event was to be an annual affair.

That each year would bring its opportunity to let the "town" know that Old McGill still sheltered a few real students to whom studying in classrooms, and discussing obstruse theories over a cup of tea, though inoffensive in its place might not compare to the odd "parade" and the horseplay inherent to such.

Are we to have a chance to let ourselves go? Is Silas Whiffletree to appear again?

It is up to the Faculty of Law to make good their boastful statements or else become the object of our mirth.

ALARM CLOCK.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily."

Dear Sir,—

At the beginning of the present session the returned soldier undergraduates petitioned the governors of the University for exemption from the increase in fees. During the financial campaign the McGill students' efforts in the war and the idea of assistance for them were exploited as a means of inducing the public to subscribe.

The campaign was successful—there is no longer shortage of funds and yet the returned soldiers' petition remains unanswered.

In different interviews with the Principal since the close of the financial campaign, the matter of exemption from the increase to the fees was dealt with—at first, encouragement was given to believe that the request would be granted—later at an interview, remarks made were very reserved, and still later, discussion on that matter was refused altogether. The University governors encouraged students to enlist and promised every possible consideration for them when they should return, but now we find that they are quite willing to add their quota to the greatly increased cost of living that the returned soldier student must meet.

Without doubt the governors have quite weighty reasons among themselves for demurring in the matter and for failing to make a decision—we are awaiting an answer. Shall any definite answer be forthcoming?

J. R. LOCKHART.

(Ed. Note:—As mentioned in another column of this issue, Principal Sir Arthur Currie states that no action is being taken towards a refund of fees to returned men. A fund has, however, been created for the express purpose of assisting all returned men who are unable, for financial reasons, to continue their courses.)

RETURNED MEN TO BE GIVEN ASSISTANCE

pended, and there still remains a considerable sum, which will, in all probability be distributed on a pro rata basis amongst the various Canadian Universities. This fund, although not immediately available, will, when and if received, materially assist the authorities in their efforts to aid returned soldier students.

Principal Currie, asked as to the possibility of a refund being made upon the sessional fees, stated that no action had been taken along these lines. Such a course would inevitably work in an indiscriminating manner, and many students, in no actual need, would be benefited at the expense of others whose circumstances more urgently demanded assistance.

Sir Arthur concluded by stating in a most emphatic manner that every returned student who is in actual and immediate need of assistance, should feel no hesitation about making his case known, and from what we have seen of the Principal, we can bespeak for every genuine applicant the most sympathetic consideration.

COM. SOC. TO HEAR ABOUT PUBLICITY

Mr. A. Emery, of National Publicity, Ltd., to Speak

TUESDAY, 8.15.

Large Attendance is Requested—and Expected—All Out!

The Commercial Society will hold its next meeting on Tuesday next at 8.15 in the Union. After a long somnolence to get over the effects of the last blow-out, everybody should be in thim to make this meeting a snappy one.

The society is to be treated to something unusual this time, and a topic will be discussed that should be of interest to every member of the society, in whatever line of Commerce he may eventually find himself. Mr. A. Emery, of the National Publicity, Limited, will give a talk on Publicity. Without publicity, the business and commercial world would be reduced to the old hand to hand barter system. Modern Commerce is built on Publicity, legitimate Publicity — not hot air gentlemen!

Mr. Emery has been engaged for some years in Publicity work and is therefore highly qualified to impart some of his ideas to the society. Not only has he a good working knowledge of his subject, but he is a capable speaker as well, and will without doubt favor us with an excellent address along very practical lines.

Thus far, the meetings have been excellent, and those who have come once have been loath to miss the next. The attendance has been above the average, but there are still some men who have not availed themselves of the opportunity of meeting some of the men prominent in the business world of to-day. These men are delighted to have the opportunity of meeting the members of the Commercial Society of McGill, and it is up to you to take advantage of this rare privilege offered you.

Unless a man falls into a routine, yellow-pay-envelope life after leaving college, he will be almost certain to need some knowledge of advertising and such things. Even if no direct knowledge is obtained, the unconscious assimilation of another man's ideas is beneficial.

Further particulars will appear in to-morrow's "Daily," and notices will be posted in the usual places. Tell your fellow members of the coming meeting and be there yourself. Make a good representative attendance worthy of the School of Commerce. The half-hour of mutual discussion and entertainment will finish the meeting, as usual. Tuesday, February 22nd, at 8.15, in the Union, then, gentlemen.

SPRING FOOTBALL IS CONTEMPLATED

Meeting At 5.30 To-Day To Consider Plans.

There will be a meeting held in the Union to-night at 5.30 which candidates for next fall team are invited to attend. The object of the meeting is to discuss prospects for spring training, and to get new men out during this term so that they can get instruction that will help them get a grasp on some of the essential things which a football player must know.

It is planned to hold a couple of practices each week. Coach Shaughnessy will be in charge and will be assisted by Capt. Anderson, ex-Captain Ross and other old players. It is especially desired that men weighing over 160 lbs. attend the meeting and future practices. The squad last fall lacked weight, and there are plenty of big men in the university who would make fine players if they would turn out and learn the game.

It has been argued that the reason these men did not turn out was because they believed that on account of the large squad during fall practices they would not get enough coaching to enable them to make a proper showing.

The Football executive believes that by starting spring training it will give new men a chance to learn enough football to enable them to step on the field next fall with practically as much knowledge of the game as the men who played on the squad last fall.

Every man in the university should and can assist by persuading many likely looking prospect to attend this meeting. The practices will not be hard on the candidates as there will be no scrimmaging, and will only occupy about one hour.

The new rules will be explained, and it is hoped that by getting started early many new plays will be planned for the team to use next fall. Everybody help to get the big boys out. We want that championship back.

R. V. C. NOTES

All R. V. C. Undergraduates are requested to attend a meeting in the Common Room at 1 p.m. to-day (Thursday). Miss Vierr will take the meeting and will outline the plan of the coming financial campaign of the S. C. M.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

There will be an important meeting of the R. V. C. Athletic Association in the Common Room at 1 o'clock to-day. All interested in the athletic activities of the college are urgently requested to attend.

The finals of the R. V. C. interclass hockey matches will be played between the Seniors and Juniors to-night at 7.30 p.m., in the rink in the Hollow. The two teams are very evenly matched and as the year which wins gets a point towards the banner a keen fight is anticipated. It is hoped rooters for their years will turn out to cheer the teams.

SEVERAL HOCKEY GAMES ON HAND

Senior and Intermediate Teams Play Four Games Over Week-End.

McGill hockey squads will figure in no less than four games during the next four days. On Friday, at 4.30 p.m., the Red and White Intermediate team hook up with Queen's Intermediates — Queen's defeated R.M.C. by 2-0 last week, so can be counted on to give McGill a close game.

Then, on Friday night, as noted elsewhere in to-day's issue, the Senior team plays the Shamrocks to decide who will enter the finals of the City League. This game will certainly be well worth watching and a large attendance is looked for.

On Tuesday, the Senior team travel to Kingston to play the return match with Queen's — the Intermediates will play there on Monday night. The Intermediates are going very strong now, and expect to win both games against Queen's. They have not yet lost a game this season, and are out to keep their record unbroken. Therefore, it is up to the student body to give the Intermediates the support they deserve, and to turn out in force on Friday afternoon as well as Friday evening.

Famous Rugby Days — Freshmen Expelled, Failing To Be Examined — Drs. Caldwell, King and Symonds Gave Addreses — News of McGill Students At the Front.

Nov. 12th, 1912.—

Ottawa is the choice for the play-off between McGill and Varsity. Phil McKenzie and Dr. Hendrie are to officiate at vital game. Special excursion will be run for Rooters' Club, and strong support is expected.

Rev. J. E. Watts-Ditchfield, Rector of Bethnal Green, London, Eng., gave an interesting address to students gathered in the Diocesan College last evening.

Nov. 12th, 1913.—

Nineteen students of the Freshman year have had to leave the University because they failed to comply with the physical exam. regulations. Some cases may be reconsidered.

Dr. L. V. King, Associate Professor of Physics, addressed the Arts Undergraduate Society last night on "Hudson Bay and the Labrador." The interesting address was illustrated by excellent lantern slides.

Almost every man on Senior Squad was out at signal practice yesterday. Shaughnessy gave team hard drill in different plays and formations. Snow and mud did not interfere with workout. Timmins played outside and Gendron in scrimmage.

Nov. 12th, 1914.—

There is a beautiful oak Honor Roll in the office of the Registrar of the Faculty of Medicine as a token of esteem for the thirteen professors and nine undergrads of that faculty who have enlisted. Space is left for many more which has a certain grim suggestive significance attached to it.

The revision of the McGill Athletic Association's constitution is printed in to-day's "Daily," and all students are urged to familiarize themselves with it.

Nov. 12th, 1915.—

At a general meeting of the McGill Union, the following resolution, moved by Dr. S. Vineberg and seconded by Mr. Bernfeld, Law '17, was adopted:

"This meeting declares itself as being in favor of granting to members of the Fifth Universities Company the some privileges as have been enjoyed by the other four University Companies."

Nov. 12th, 1917.—

The McGill Glee Club executive held a meeting in which plans were laid for the future of the club. Arrangements were made for a rehearsal which were gladly adopted by the students. The attendance was very gratifying, a large number of students being present. Much of the success of the club was due to this meeting.

Nov. 13th, 1911.—

Red and White closed the Intercollegiate football season of 1911 with one of the most magnificent victories ever recorded in the annals of the football history of the University. Result of the game has no bearing on the Championship; consequently, comparatively little interest was manifested. Whirlwind rally pulled the game out of the fire. The score six minutes from the whistle was—Queen's, 19; McGill, 4. But when the end came, the score stood—McGill, 20; Queen's, 19!

Varsity retains Intercollegiate Champ. by defeating Ottawa College by the score of 36-12.

Nov. 13th, 1912.—

Senior football squad practising hard under Shaughnessy for play-off at Lansdowne Park, Ottawa. Intermediates turned out in full force and had most successful practice in last two weeks.

Y.M.C.A. is starting to raise the sum of thirteen hundred dollars among the students for the furtherance of the useful work carried on by the McGill Y.M.C.A.

Nov. 13th, 1913.—

Dr. Caldwell gave a remarkable address before the Philosophical Society last night on "Pragmatism as Americanism."

Many Rooters are going to Toronto for the game on Saturday. Large number of berth reservations were made yesterday. Shaughnessy put football squad through a hard practice yesterday, characterized by snappy play.

McGill water polo teams lost both games with Montreal Swimming Club Senior and Intermediate. Scores—3 to 2 and 3 to 1 respectively.

Nov. 13th, 1914.—

Students' Council met last night, and the Rifle Club and Orchestra estimates were passed. The latter will give four Sunday concerts this session. Each member of the Council has bought a souvenir in the form of an enamel lapel button, having the McGill crest, and the words, "Students' Council."

The correspondence between Dr. Peterson and Professor Hugo Munsterberg, of Harvard, on the British Blue Book, concerning the origin of the war, was printed in to-day's "Daily."

Nov. 13th, 1915.—

Showing marked superiority over their opponents, the Science Rugby team had little trouble in defeating Medicine in the final game yesterday, thereby clinching the championship.

Pte. Spencer R. Symonds, Arts '18, writes from the front that the "Princess Pats" have been having a well-earned holiday back of the trenches in a large French city.

Major R. A. Bowie, Med. '91, is now Surgeon-in-Chief at Moore Barracks Canadian Hospital at Shorncliffe. Dr. Howe A. Jones, Med. '00, has accepted a commission in the R.A.M.C., and will sail for England this week. Lieut. Stuart Lemesurier, Law '12, who returned from the front after recovering from wounds, will speak in aid of recruiting at Stanbridge East to-morrow morning.

Nov. 13th, 1918.—

The University was greatly grieved by the loss of Lieut. Parnell, Arts '17, Sci. '18, who won the Military Cross in December, 1915. Lieut. Parnell was a young man, being but twenty-two years of age. He was of distinguished family, being the fourth son of Baron Congleton. As a result of his death, his fellow-officers paid tribute to Lieut. Parnell's sterling worth and bravery.

Nov. 13th, 1919.—

Shaughnessy put the Senior Rugby squad through a workout yesterday. Good work shown and men are being saved for Saturday's big game with Toronto. Another enthusiastic Rooters' meeting was held at the Union.

The last lecture in Dr. Herbert Symonds' series on "The Doctrine of the Kingdom of Heaven and its application to present conditions," was given yesterday at the R.V.C.

The Council gave a dinner to the Track Champs. at the Windsor Hotel last night. J. L. O'Brien, president of the club, announced the toasts.

McGill was defeated in water polo by the M.A.A.A., the score being 6-0.

ASSAULT-AT-ARMS FEB. 25 AND 26

To Be Held in the Union—Tickets $1 per Night.

Attempts to secure a hall with larger seating accommodation having failed, the Intercollegiate Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Championships will be held in the Union on Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 25th and 26th. Tickets will be put on sale early next week, and will cost $1.00 for each evening.

Interest in the Assault-at-Arms is growing as the date approaches, and it is expected that the hall will be filled to overflowing on both nights. Large numbers of supporters from both Queen's and Varsity are expected, and so if the McGill men are to have the proper support, it is essential that all available tickets are bought up. Little is known at present of the relative strength of the Queen's and Varsity teams, but the McGill men, according to those who are in a position to judge, are sure to give a very good account of themselves, and it is confidently expected that when the smoke of battle clears away next Saturday night, the Red and White colors will be on top.

Tickets will be put on sale the beginning of next week.

THE ALMA MATER IS LAST DANCE

Closing Dance To Be Held March 11th.

The tickets for the Alma Mater Dance are now on sale at the Union. The dance is to be held on March 11th and it is a certainty that the Alma Mater Dance this year will easily equal those held in other years. The Dance Committee is busy planning the arrangements and the decorations are to be exceptionally beautiful.

The orchestra which is to play has not yet been announced, but it will be the very best that can be found. The refreshments, the most important part to some people, are to be of the usual high order found at all the Union dances.

The tickets are $5, and can be procured at the Secretary's Office at the Union. This dance is to be the last formal affair this term and, as the grand finale, will be of special interest. Buy your tickets early while you can. There will be a big rush for them—so get right in line to-day.

London has a Nose Club, the membership of which is determined by certain measurements, and any applicant falling short of the required standard of size is rigidly excluded.

U. F. O. EMISSARY RAILS AT TARIFF

Extraordinary Testimony Before Tarriff Commission at Ottawa.

There have been some surprising documents presented to the Tariff Committee, but none more amazing than the brief presented at Ottawa by Mr. M. H. Staples on behalf of the United Farmers of Ontario. The statement, which was presented by Mr. Staples, who is Educational Secretary of the U. F. O., or, as he explained to Sir Henry Drayton, "an assembler of information" for that organization, had the approval, he said, of Mr. Morrison, Mr. Burnaby, Mr. Good, Mr. Wallace, and Mr. McNaughton. Mr. Staples held protection responsible for nearly all the sins in the calendar. He made the discovery that protection has not corrected the ancient evil of unemployment. Still, he admitted that in Great Britain "unemployment is rampant, in protective United States it is rampant also." Then he discovered that "protection has failed to maintain a remunerative market for farm produce." Again, it has "failed to maintain a favorable trade balance." "My point is this," he said. "Recognizing that there has been a favorable trade balance, that balance could hardly be attributed to protection." But, "most disquieting of all, the protective tariff has failed to prevent the spirit of unrest." Incidentally, we do not know that it has ever been claimed that the protective tariff is a panacea for human ills. Mr. Staples maintained that protection "has encouraged the growth of urban industries and the growth of cities, to a large extent at the expense of the country." This is the old argument of rural depopulation which, of course, has no relation to tariff policy and which is even more applicable to Great Britain than to Canada. So, Mr. Staples dealt with the contrast of rich and poor in large centres, of fine homes and squalid dwellings, of luxury and want, and accused the protective tariff of directly fostering class organization and class selfishness. Mr. Staples should know that free trade England presents contrasts as striking as those of protectionist Canada or the protectionist United States, that standards of morality are not determined by fiscal policies, that the slums of New York are not different from the slums of London's East End. But Mr. Staples' knowledge of cities is apparently limited. Sir Henry Drayton remarked that Mr. Staples' experience of cities had been unfortunate.

Mr. Staples: Perhaps so.

Sir Henry Drayton: What is your business experience in cities?

Mr. Staples: I have not been in business in cities except buying necessities for my own home.

Sir Henry Drayton: Your idea is that the farmer is more honest than other people.

Mr. Staples: I maintain that conditions make it possible, or that it may be so.

Sir Henry Drayton: Do you think, Mr. Staples, that the country has any duty at all towards labor?

Mr. Staples: I think so. Labor is an integral part of the citizenship of the country.

Sir Henry Drayton: Does that duty go to the extent of trying to bring about conditions that will afford employment in the country?

Mr. Staples: As affording employment to citizens, but possibly not directly fostering it.

Mr. Staples felt so strongly on the subject of favorable trade balances that Sir Henry naturally asked him what should be done in Canada to bring about a favorable trade balance with the United States, but Mr. Staples did not feel "competent to enter into details of that discussion." Again, Mr. Staples informed the Commission that "not long ago a statement was made to me by a manufacturer in Western Ontario and also by a manufacturer in Nova Scotia that from a particular machine which they have had to use, the duty was removed some years ago. Since then they have secured Canadian-made machines cheaper and of a much better quality than were obtained formerly." Sir Henry Drayton was eager to secure the name of this particular machine, but Mr. Staples could not tell him.

Returning to Mr. Staples' charge that "the protective tariff directly fostered class organization and class selfishness," Sir Henry Drayton asked the natural question: "Is there any more trouble here than in England of that sort?"

Mr. Staples: If one looks at the testimony laid before this Board in connection with the protective tariff, I don't think you could dispute that.

Sir Henry Drayton: Then you say there is more here?

But Mr. Staples would not say that there was more here.

As a concrete example of tariff evils, Mr. Staples declared that in 1919 there was manufactured in Canada cotton goods to the value of more than $66,000,000, while exports for the same year amounted to almost $3,000,000, and therefore, approximately $63,000,000 worth of cotton goods was marketed at home. These goods were protected to the extent of 25 per cent. "In other words," Mr. Staples said, "protection by making possible the manufacture of these goods in Canada deprived our treasury of $15,750,000 from customs duties." And not only did the Treasury lose $15,750,000 by this deplorable habit of manufacturing at home and employing Canadian labor, but this particular case afforded "a characteristic example of double taxation due to protective tariff." Mr. Staples worked it out this way. If $15,750,000 due to the protective tariff was paid by the consumer, it went into somebody's pocket, but not into the public treasury. Public revenue had to be provided and, therefore, the Minister of Finance was compelled to make it up by some form of taxation. And so, the consumer paid $15,750,000 all over again.

Sir Henry Drayton: Was it a bad thing for Canada to buy at home $63,000,000 worth of cotton?

Mr. Staples: No, Sir, not at all.

Sir Henry Drayton: Then what are you complaining about?

Mr. Staples: I am complaining that the manufacturer of that cotton must surely have been able to exact a great deal higher toll for his finished product from the consumer.

Sir Henry Drayton: During what period would you say that was so?

Mr. Staples: I state on the figures of last year.

Sir Henry Drayton: Do you know what the American price was last year? Because I am pretty confident that you are an investigator as you are a teacher. What was the American price last year?

Mr. Staples: I cannot tell you that, but that is not the point I attempt to make there.

Sir Henry Drayton: Why, Mr. Staples, you have just said that the Canadian manufacturer was able to exact more from the Canadian consumer, haven't you?

Mr. Staples: Yes, Sir.

Sir Henry Drayton: Then I assume you say that knowing something of the subject. How much more was he able to exact?

Mr. Staples: I cannot tell you that.

Sir Henry Drayton: What prices did the Canadian consumer pay?

Mr. Staples: I cannot tell you that.

Sir Henry Drayton: Do you know what the American prices were?

Mr. Staples: I understand they were very high last year.

Sir Henry Drayton: Do you understand what the Canadian prices were last year?

Mr. Staples: No, Sir.

Sir Henry Drayton: Then, not knowing that, do you think that is a fair remark for you to make? You see, we have had evidence—it may be all untrue, but we do like to get facts—which evidence, if I remember rightly, showed that there was a difference of 8 cents a yard on rough cottons, that they were to that extent cheaper in the Canadian market than in the United States market. Now, if that is not true, I wish you would tell me what the truth is.

Mr. Staples: I cannot dispute that, Sir.

Sir Henry Drayton: Then, if you cannot, don't you think that is something you ought to know before making a sweeping statement like that?

There can be no continuity of employment nor industrial stability if low tariff and free trade views are permitted to direct the country's fiscal policy. In a recent analysis of the Farmers' Platform, with special reference to Lambton County, Mr. J. E. Armstrong, M.P. for East Lambton, pointed out that there were eleven industries operating in Petrolia and that the U. F. O. policy and platform would wipe out every one of them. "The U. F. O. platform," he declared, "places farm implements on the free list. That would close our wagon factory and throw 100 men out of work. 'Free food products' is another plank. That would affect our cheese factory. 'Free vehicles,' another plank advocated by the U. F. O., would close our new motor plant, brought here because of the protection tariff now in force. Mining machinery would affect the Oil Well Supply Company and the Draper Manufacturing Company. The latter located here recently owing to the tariff policy of this Government. Another plank in their platform reads: 'Illuminating fuel and lubricating oils shall be placed on the free list. That would close our refinery, throwing 200 men out of work, 200 families would be idle in Petrolia, 2,000 men out of work in Sarnia and thousands of others all over Canada."

The town of Watford, Ont., had had a practical example of the value of protection last week in the opening of a Canadian branch of American industry. "An institution like this located in Canada," said Mr. Hugh Guthrie, addressing the Watford electors, "is ten thousand times as valuable to us as one located at Rockford, Illinois. We want it here. We welcome them here, and I can assure you the people of Canada will do everything in their power to see that they get fair treatment and a fair field without favor, and if they do I am sure they will meet with success."

During the past few years scores of American branches have been located in Canada. They would not have come if it had not been for protection, and they will not remain if protection is removed. In Toronto alone there are no fewer than 140 United States branches. The second annual report of the Industrial Department operated under the joint auspices of the Toronto City Council and the Toronto Harbor Commission shows that since the inception of this Department a new industry has been established in the city every ten days, the industries occupying more than 1,200,000 feet of floor space for manufacturing and storage purposes. Thirty-five of the industries were established in 1919 and twenty-nine last year. Of the latter, twenty-one were American, two British, and six Canadian. In addition, approximately seventy-five British, Canadian and American firms are at the present time actively investigating the industrial possibilities of Toronto. It is expected that within the very near future over $6,000,000 of British capital will be invested in industries in Toronto, and the Industrial Department urges the establishment of a permanent industrial force in London, England, to furnish British manufacturers with accurate data regarding manufacturing openings in the city.

In the Liberal ranks there is striking division of opinion over the tariff. While Liberals in the Prairie Provinces rejoice in the Farmers' Platform, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King declares that the tariff is not the real issue before the people, and Hon. Mr. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec, is a protectionist. Speaking in the Quebec Legislature on a motion for the adoption of the address, the Liberal leader said: "I do not think that I am venturing out of my domain in expressing the hope that industry may develop in the same way as agriculture has done. That is why, in spite of the legends which our adversaries endeavour to spread, the Liberal party favors a tariff which will permit our industries to live and prosper.

"The leaders of the Liberal party do not lose sight of the fact that we have at our threshold separated by a purely imaginary line the largest manufacturies in the world, which are in a much more advantageous position for exchange, and that the too free entry of their products into our markets would be ruinous to our industry and to agriculture. The latter needs the big Canadian markets to be in a position to resist the American tariff and the English embargo."

At Calcutta, a couple was married recently in an airplane. The wedding party ascended 6,000 feet, and, the engine being shut off, a clergyman read the wedding service as the machine circled gently to the earth.

PRESBYTERIANS SUBMERGE AGGIES

Emerge Victorious By 3—1 in Slushy Game at Ste. Annes.

At 3.55 Wednesday afternoon the greatest naval battle since the affair at Heligoland was staged on the Hospital Rink at St. Annes. Both the Presbyterian and Macdonald fleets found it impossible to navigate, owing to head winds, on the College Rink, so the puck was faced off on the rink built for the Soldiers' Hospital.

It was a great battle — for the spectators. The Presbyterian boys started off with a rush, if a rush was at all possible, on the troubled surface of the pond. Skating proved impossible, so every player resorted to running. It was a wonderful sight to see MacCormack, of the Presbyterians, do the hundred yard dash up the ice in "ten flat," carrying the puck on the end of his stick. The shooting of both teams proved very exciting, men shot, but the puck very often disappeared in the act. Then a digging competition would take place, which added excitement to the play. Is fact, it looked one time as if the whole rink was endangered so strenuous were the effort of Dempsey and Birks to recover the puck.

In spite of the fact that there were more players sprawling over the ice than there were standing, some effective combination work was shown by both teams. After ten minutes of play, Harris passed the puck to Dempsey, who batted it into the goal, making the score 1-0 for the Presbys. Buchanan and Ness did some spectacular work at this point, and the Presbys' defence was kept busy. Just before the whistle blew for half time, MacCormack managed to float the rubber past Richardson, the Aggies' net-minder.

The second period proved to be more exciting than ever. The rink presented the appearance of a harrowed field. Perhaps it was this that made the Aggies more confident. At any rate, after some pretty team work, Winter dodged Amaron, the big Presbyterian, making the score 2-1.

Just as men were inspired overseas when they saw reinforcements coming up, so the Presbyterians were moved to greater zeal by the appearance of red tams running along the railway tracks, approaching the rink — the R.V.C. They arrived at the psychological moment. The effect was tremendous. Away went MacCormack on one of his spectacular dashes. Down he sprawled; up again, only to lose the puck in a shell-hole. Ness retaliated and managed to bring the puck within shooting distance of the goal — a marvellous feat.

At this point the Old McGill yell, roaring from the lusty throats of half a dozen of the R.V.C. rent the air in deafening acclamation of the noble efforts of those upholding the honor of McGill. Laurie, of Macdonald, shot for goal, but Amaron jumped to meet the rubber. This was one of the most spectacular moments. Back and forth raged the battle. Both teams tired under the tremendous strain. At last Harris scored for the Presbys, the last tally of the game.

Richardson played a brilliant game in goals for Macdonald. The puck acted as if it was demented at times, and hopped about in such a manner that it is marvellous that so few goals were made.

The Presbys waited to root for the R.V.C., who were to play the Macdonald girls, and to return in some measure the valuable service rendered by them, but several of the team were unable to swim, so the game was postponed.

Tre line-up:

Presbys		Macdonald
Amaron	Goal	Richardson
McGerrigle	Defence	Beaudin
Dempsey	Defence	B. Ness
Avison	Forward	Buchanan
Harris	Forward	Winter
MacCormack	Forward	Laurie
Anderson	Sub.	Birks

Patronize "Daily" advertisers.

The Scottish fishermen are among the most superstitious folk in the world. One of their peculiar beliefs is that it is unlucky to pronounce either their own or other people's names during the fishing season.

When you buy, mention the "Daily."

ALL YEAR LONG

We have preached the doctrine "Patronize our advertisers."

There's a reason.

The people who advertise in the McGill Daily are the people to whom we owe what business we have to give.

They keep us going. We ought to do the same for them.

So give our advertisers a boost every chance you get.

JUNIOR 'A' WIN FROM ARGOS BY BIG MARGIN

Had Advantage Especially in First Half.

SCORE: 30—19.

Good Passing and Team Work Feature of McGill Play.

Last night, the Junior "A" Basketball squad scored a decisive victory over their opponents at the Reacroft School gym, when they beat Argos by the large margin of 30-19.

The Juniors were a much better team, much heavier and more aggressive, and except for a few minutes in the second half, had much the best of the game.

Their shooting was especially accurate, which, except in the case of one man, cannot be said for the Argo quintette.

The latter were a light squad, but this deficiency was largely compensated for by their having the edge on the McGill boys in the matter of speed.

The heavy scoring was due to a large extent to the fact that the Argo guards did not fulfill their functions as efficiently as they might, and time and again, Bryce received the ball without a man near him, and had no difficulty in scoring. The first score of the game was registered by Dobson, who netted the ball nicely after a few minutes' play.

Dobson was very conspicuous in the first few minutes, and had hard luck in not being more successful with some of his shots. Argos were then given several opportunities to score, by reason of bad and jumbled passes by McGill, but they bombarded the basket without success. This seemed to pull McGill together, and up till the end of the first half there were few bad passes. Soon Bryce scored for McGill, and a few minutes afterwards, Argos registered their first count, bringing the score to 4-2.

Soon Dobson scored a penalty, then Bryce and Dobson got baskets in quick succession. As the result of good combination and passing, Bryce scored his third basket. Argos soon tallied, after masy attempts to evade the McGill guards.

Bryce then put in some excellent work, getting two more baskets, and at half-time the score sheet read 15-4. McGill had throughout the best of it, and owed much to the splendid play of Bryce, who scored 10 out of the 15 points.

The second half opened with a rush by Argos, who, however, failed to score. Legg replaced Silver for McGill. Dobson opened the score as in the first half, with a penalty, but Argos soon ran through and got a basket. Bryce tallied with two baskets, and after this effort McGill seemed to rest on her laurels for a period of about ten minutes.

Argos seemed to take a new lease of life, and had by far the best of the game, passing well, and combining together far better than they had. In a few minutes they brought the score to 20-12, by 2 penalties and two baskets.

It looked as if McGill was in danger, which fact seemed to strike the players, for they came back to their old form, and were pressing right up till the end.

Bryce scored three baskets and Silver two, while Dobson netted a penalty. Argos tried hard, but could only score 7 more points, the game ending with the sheet reading 30-19 for McGill.

It is a good indication of the game that Argos scored 15 out of their 19 points in the second half, while McGill scored 15 in each.

The outstanding player was Bryce, who was always aggressive, always in the right place, and scored 20 points for his side. The rest of the squad also played well, and are all worthy of individual mention.

The teams lined up as follows:

McGill		Argos
Rourke	Guard	Swift, E.
Powell	Guard	Wilson, J.
Dobson	Centre	Vautier
Bryce	Forward	Wilson, A.
Silver	Forward	Wilson, H.
Legg	Sub.	Swift, C.

ROYAL VICTORIA COLLEGE STUDENTS TO HAVE PRIVILEGES OF CIRO'S AT "THE DANSANTS."

The Committee of Ciro's are extending the privileges of Ciro's to the Senior Undergraduates of the R.V.C. on Saturday afternoons for the "The Dansant" held weekly by the Club.

This privilege is extended to the R.V.C. and McGill exclusively, and it is therefore asked that undergraduates will have their registration cards with them for presentation if requested.

The "The Dansants" is from 4 to 6.30 p.m., and the music for dancing is rendered by the popular "Ciro's Trio."

Amidst refined surroundings you will be able to spend a most enjoyable afternoon.

Reservations may be made by telephoning "Ciro's," Up. 8975, 186 Peel Street.—Advt.

McGILL PLAYS SHAMROCKS IN SEMI-FINALS

City League Game Tomorrow Evening.

CHANCES BRIGHT.

Red and White Squad At Top of Form.

To- morrow evening the McGill City League Team meets the strong Shamrock outfit in the semi-final for the City title.

The attendance at the City League games, as far as students are concerned, has been so far very disappointing, but as enthusiasm runs very high around college in connection with Friday night's game, a large turnout of McGill men is expected.

Chances seem very good for a victory for the Red and White, as they have already trimmed the Irishmen once, and on that occasion showed far better form than their opponents. Moreover, the college team in both their fixtures last week showed marked improvement over their performance against the Varsity sextette, and gave evidence of their ability to score on their opponents by piling up twenty-seven goals in two games. Their team-work was marked'y better and the individual p'ayers seemed to be in far better form than they have been at any previous time this season.

Ted Behan, who had shown little of his old-time skill in the early part of the season, shone forth in all his brilliancy in the Queen's game Saturday night. His stick-handling was pretty to watch and his speed one of the features of the play.

In Stenson, the McGill team has a goaler that they can depend on, and with a defence like Dineen and Cully, the Shamrocks are going to find it hard work to sag the McGill net.

A forward line composed of men like Flanagan, Anderson, Behan and Gallery is a difficult one to stop when once they get their stride. On Saturday night, as against Westmount last Monday night, they dazzled all by their speed and combination.

If McGill wins the semi-final, they will have a hard task ahead of them to defeat the winner of to-night's game between M.A.A.A. and Nationals. Both of these teams are strong ones, and McGill has failed to overcome either of them this year.

ROOTERS OUT IN FORM ON FRIDAY

Support Needed For To-Morrow's Game Against Shamrocks.

Rooters, do your duty. The McGill Senior hockeyists are in for one of the toughest weeks they have yet experienced. To-morrow, Friday, they meet Shamrocks, if they win, they play again Monday in the finals against the winner of the M.A.A.A.-Nationals match. Tuesday our seniors go up against Queens, and on Friday they oppose Varsity in Toronto.

Our team needs to come in first—to come in first they need support, not half-hearted, mediocre support, but real enthusiasm as shown by an Arena full of backers. Watch to-morrow's "Daily" for full particulars regarding arrangements for accommodation, etc., for this, which may be McGill's last home game.

M.A.A.A. BEATEN BY HIGHLANDERS

City League Basketball Fixture Ends 31—29 For Highlanders.

Highlanders defeated M.A.A.A. Reds in a City League basketball fixture by 31—29, in an extremely close and hotly contested game last night. A fact of interest to McGill men is that four of the Highlanders' team are McGill graduates.

The score at half time was 17—16.

The teams;

Highlanders.		M.A.A.A.
Klein	Defence	Forbes
Dr. Kennedy.	"	Brophy
Bourke	Forward	Gronan
Dr. Pitts	"	Drysdale
Dr. Young	"	Saunders
Finnie	Sub.	Miller

The standing of the three leading teams now is:

	W.	L.
Highlanders	5	1
McGill	4	1
M.A.A.A.	3	2

On Saturday the McGill Senior team will go to Grand 'Mere to play the Laurentide Company's team there.

INTERMEDIATES DEFEATED BY M.A.A.A.

McGill Loses by Three Points in Closely Contested Game.

FAST AND FURIOUS.

McFarlane Did Large Amount of Scoring For M.A.A.A.

Fast and furious was the order of the game against the M.A.A.A. Intermediates in which the McGill men were beaten by a score of 31 to 28. At times the game more resembled an assault-at-arms than a basketball game. Corbett, of the M.A.A.A., being more noted for his pugilistic ability than for his ability as a basketball player.

McGill did not have Caldwell or Moore, who were on the sick list. Connor supplied a very good substitute for Caldwell at centre. Tinkers and Clarke did most of McGill's scoring. Twenty-five of M.A.A.A.'s thirty-one were made by McFarlane.

The game was started by two points from McFarlane. Clarke and Tinkers followed with two points each. McFarlane made a basket which was followed by another from Clarke. McFarlane made one point on a free shot which he soon followed with another point. Tinkers made a point for McGill which Jacques and McFarlane followed with a basket each. Clarke scored two and Corbett and McFarlane each made a basket. Tinkers then made four points on as many free shots, the McGill men being fouled three times in fifteen seconds. The half was finished by Clarke who made a basket for McGill. The score at half-time was 16 to 15 in favor of the M.A.A.A.

The second half started well for the Red and White team. Schwartzman made two points putting McGill in the lead, but McFarlane soon changed this by scoring a basket. Clarke scored a basket which was again counteracted by one from McFarlane. In the next few minutes it looked as if McGill had taken the lead for the evening as Tinkers and Clarke scored two baskets a piece. McFarlane again took matters in hand, however, and made five baskets in fairly rapid succession. At this point a slight fistic encounter took place and when the shouting and the tumult died each team was awarded a free shot on which they both scored. There was no further scoring.

When the final whistle blew the score was 31 to 28 for the M.A.A.A.

The line-up of the two teams was as follows:

McGill.		M.A.A.A.
Schwartzman	Forward	Corbett
Clarke	"	McFarlane
Tinkers	Defense	O'Brien
McCaw	"	Rayeroft
Connor	Centre	Jacques

CENTRAL Y.M.C.A. DEFEATED JUNIORS

Visitors Show Good Combination in Molson's Hall.

Putting up a very nice exhibition of combination the Central "Y" Juniors defeated the McGill Junior squad by a score of 37 to 25. Homer made the most points for the winning team, while Reed and Levy played a good game for McGill.

Homer started the game with a basket which was closely followed by another from Levy. Shortly afterwards Homer made one point on a free shot which Reed followed with a basket and one point. Homer won two points on a free shot which Reed followed with a basket. Homer and Reed then made one a piece on free shots. Levy made two points which Homer followed with a basket. Reed and Levy each made two points and Wolfe scored on a free shot. The rest of the period was devoted to Wolfe, Bodrey and Laidlaw, who each scored two points for the Central "Y" giving them a total of 14 against McGill's 17.

Reed started the second period with a basket but Homer and Wolfe made seven points in a short period. Levy made a basket which Homer followed with two points. Reed made a basket and won one point on a free shot. Homer and Bodrey then took matters in hand and piled up ten points before the end of the game. In the second half the McGill team seemed to lack the vigor to hold their lead of the first period. The final score was 37 to 25 for the Central "Y" Juniors.

The line-up of the two teams was:

McGill.		Central "Y".
Reed	Forward	Homer
Levy	"	Wolfe
McLean	Centre	Hastings
Connor	Defense	Laidlaw
Snyder	"	Bodrey
Wodehouse	Sub.	Davies

CLASS OF ARTS '23 TO HONOR TEAM

Sleigh Drive To Be Held Next Tuesday.

The long expected, much discussed sleigh drive of Arts '23 has at last materialized. This greatly anticipated event will take place next Tuesday, probably from the Union. The occasion is to be regarded as one in which due honor and credit is to be given to the Arts '23 class hockey team—Champions of McGill!

Everything is being done by the committee in charge to make the evening a successful one — and with the attendance limited solely to Arts Sophs, success is assured.

College Exchange

Out of 450 Freshmen at the University of Illinois who took the spelling examination, 150 failed to pass with a grade of 90.

The worst paper corrected misspelled 23 out of 50 words. Professor Scott of the English Department has prepared a list of words most frequently mis-spelled by the 150 who failed. They are: irresistible, misspelled in 120 cases out of 150; exhilarate, 111; villain, 87; mischievous, 81; embarrass, 54; and rheumatism, 50.

Manhattan citizens and students of the Kansas State Agricultural College glimpsed a bit of Chinese life when the Chinese students of the college recently presented an original play, "Chinese Night." A large audience greeted the Orientals in their first attempt at theatricals. The proceeds of the play, $800, will go to the Chinese Famine Relief Fund.

Official figures on the number of disqualified students at the university of California for the last semester, August to December, 1920, show that 521 students were unable to return to the university this semester because of failure to pass in at least ten units of registered work, or having a highly satisfactory standing in at least eight points.

This means that approximately five per cent. of the enrolled student body were disqualified. Of this number 361 students were men and 160 women.

Utah's Senate recently passed a bill prohibiting the smoking of cigars, cigarettes or pipes in public places. The University of Utah has formed an Anti-Tobacco League with the purpose of supporting this law and of trying to stop the use of tobacco absolutely.

A sneezing station is the latest modern accessory provided at Wellesly College, Boston, for the girls of that institution. An air-tight coryza closet, lined with zinc and filled with the healing and disinfecting vapors of eucalyptus oil and formaldehyde will be installed at Founder's Hall on the college campus.

That women in colleges and preparatory schools should pursue technical and scientific courses rather than the purely academic cources is the suggestion carried in a circular letter issued under the date of January 29 by the United States Civil Service Commission. All examinations for the Civil Service are now open to women, but few qualify because of lack of technical training.

Princeton's hopes of presenting a strong track team this winter suffered another severe setback, when it was announced that Allen Swede, of Norristown, Pa., the great distance runner will be unable to compete this season. The loss of Swede, in addition to that of Massey, star hurdler, who is suffering from an attack of appendicitis, and also of Bill Stevenson, who is prevented from competing by injuries, leaves the team in a crippled condition.

British Liberals Attack Irish Policy

London, Feb. 16.—On Monday the Independent Liberals will move an amendment to the address in the House of Commons as follows:

"We humbly present to Your Majesty that the policy and practice pursued by the executive in Ireland have failed to secure the repression of organized outrage, have involved officers and servants of the Crown in competition in crime with offenders against the law, have handed over to military authorities unrestricted discretion in the definition and punishment of offences and have frustrated the prospects of a settlement of the problem of Irish self-government."

The executive committee of the Labor Party has endorsed Lord Morley's demand for a public inquiry into the Mallow shooting affray, and for guarantees for the safety of railwaymen in the future. A large demonstration at Albert Hall last night under the auspices of the Labor party passed a resolution demanding a judicial inquiry into reprisals and the withdrawal of all armed forces from Ireland.

Results
An advertising medium lives or dies by reason of the results which it brings to its advertisers.
To make The Daily a successful medium to the merchants of the city it is our duty to demonstrate the fact that "Daily" advertising brings business.
And when the merchant knows that we bring him our business everybody is happy.
He says "That McGill paper is good to me." And he sticks with us. And when we make good for him we make good for ourselves as well.
